Jo Fabbri

Jo Fabbri is a young Italian artist. Born in 1985 she has been painting for fifteen years, in which she has tried to improve her technique. Since she began to paint, Jo has been focusing on portraits of famous people and not, only now she has begun to experiment new types of paintings, while keeping her focus on portraits, but also concentrating on entire bodies and objects.

Jo Fabbri, Selfportarit

This young artist privileges the painting technique of acrylic on canvas, sometimes accompanied by other types of material, for instance spray. She paints prevalently on big canvases to amplify the impact of her work.

For the realization of her work, Jo's inspiration comes from photographs, from these she evidences the shadows and creates bichromatic images which she then recreates on canvas, through the arrangement of colors and her techniques she achieves strong expressions. Color is the key factor in her work; she always tries to match the right color for the particular subject or object in question.
